KHEDIVIAL OPERA HOUSE.

KHEDIVIAL OF BRIDGE AND THE PEDORA.

The performance of Fedora at the Khedivial Opera House last night, thanks to Signa. Pradolfini, sa a great success. Signa. Pandolfini is a thorough artiste and an actress of a very high order. Her rendering of Fedora was, if possible, better than her Town. Signor Girand was variable, though undoubtedly good the last at the signing in the second act. Giraud was variable, unough in the second act in the last act; his singing in the second act was not at all that we should have wished Giraud, was extrable, though undoubtedly good in the last act; his nighting in the second act was software that the we should have wished: I have suffered that the second act was software that once sharp one natural time have his one properties of the second to these hold of this note. Inaccuracies were numerous and hardly justified, and he scenes to have a difficulty in taking really high notes. We may medition a most admirable high C by Signa Pandolfini, Signor Rubini delivered his solo very effectively in Act I. Signor Poleson was good and sang well, but he has not the same chance as in La Toece, he is a real chef to police, and a such probably find diplomacy too tame an eccupation. The chorus is numerally good, and the Khedirial Theatre have—in that branch—spent their money to real advantage, Indeed, in theatrical "accessories" Cairo need not fact competition, so long as the present conditions are in force. Rispletto is to be given to-night. We hope that some improvement will be effected therein. In this connection it is interesting to not in Alexandria—as in Cairo—Signor Vio that some improvement will be effected therein. In Alexandria—as in Cairo—Signor Vio that one improvement will be effected therein. In Alexandria—as in Cairo—Signor Vio that the second of the opens in the property of the competition of the methods, a signor vio that he "handles" his might hote with an ones and dectority appleases the Angle-Saxon in gentless and the competition of the competition of the State Theory, and we could wish that—but we are criticalized the Khedivial Theatre, and it is as real to remind our readers that Silveria, also by Giovalan (whose compositions seem to be above the average) will be give on Saturday. Let us mention, before we close, that Signora Trombun really showed to advantage in her part. As long as great and atstating efforts a not required of her, she is quite pleasing.
