CAIRO'S BATTLE OF FLOWERS.

SPOILED BY THE RAIN

Excellent arrangements, brilliant deconstion, carriages, dogoarts, and what-not, beflowered and bagarhaded, deserved isomething better than the weather that chilled Cairo yesterday. The morning was orereast till about 10 a.m., then it cleared only for a cold and data-fader wind to bring the clouds up again, and shortly before 3 pm. rain began to fall. Theseefor-ward showers came down internittently till close on 6 coled, and though it cleared later close on 6 coled, and though it cleared later.

THE FITZNER QUARTETTE.

The Fitzner Quartette gave their first concert at Cairo on the 3rd inst. at the Continental Hotel. The programme was excellent and the performance very good. Chamber music is so infrequent in Cairo that adequate performances thereof are a real godeend. The programme consisted of Mozart's quartette (B flat major), a infroquent in Cairo that adequate performances thereof are a real godeand. The programme consisted of Morart's quartetic (6 flat major), a largo by Smetana, ascheros (Brantis Bory), and Benthoven's quartetic (6 flat major), a largo by Smetana, ascheros (Brantis Bory), and Benthoven's quartetic (Eminorop, 59no. 2),—a most interesting selection. The Morartis peculiarly delightful for its minute and adaptic, which last was admirably reodered. There were moments when the performers were perhaps in the least bit too energistic, too a property of the least bit too energistic, too a property of the least bit too energistic, too a property of the least bit too energistic, too a property of the least bit too energistic, too a property of the least bit too energistic, too and the least bit too flat the least bit too energistic, too and the least bit too flat the least bit too entire the least too entire the least too entire the least energy of the least bit too suddent according issues. The Benthors was one of those quarteties to be greated too the least least too end of the development of the phrases: it formed a strange owntrast to the precoding and according pieces. The Benthors was one of those quarteties to be greated and the least strange out the least seemed the least seemed too suddent in attack. Let us say at once that Herr Waither is a most pleasing collist: he pipays really artistically, and given a great too suddent in attack. Let us say at once that showed at their way best, presenting should be of some "non-crumpling" material, for instance, cardboard I ca quartete the least sound or rustle is more than noticoable: and, appreciative as the addingte was, there were moments, especially at the very beginning of movements when there was a perfection of chamber of the second of the second of the least sound or rustle is more than noticoable: and, appreciative as the addingte was, there were moments, especially at the very beginning of movements was the new ever moments, especially at the very beginning of moveme native as the audience was, them were moments, especially at the very beginning of movements, when there was a perceptible lack of that absolute silence on because it being set and enhance the attraction of chamber music. We certainly recommend all lovers of sunio to attend the other performances of this quartette: we feel confident that they will be amply rewarded in the sujeyment provided therein.
